Additional Career-Related Training

Graduates were asked if they have had any additional career-related training since graduation. Thirty-three (33) percent of all respondents (190 graduates) said they had no additional training. Of those respondents who have taken additional training, 255 (67 percent) said they had training at a technical college, 87 (23 percent) had additional training at a college or university, and 36 (10 percent) said they had training at some other institution.
