

Occupational Knowledge Related to Job

Employers were asked how well the graduate's occupational knowledge related to the job meets their expectations compared to what is expected of an entry-level employee. As shown below, for graduates of all programs in all instructional divisions, employers responding rated 66 graduates (23%) as exceeding their expectations; 191 (67%) as meeting their expectations; and 26 (9%) as nearly meeting their expectations. Only one graduate (<1%) did not meet their employer's expectations.
