DISMISSAL FROM MCS PROGRAM

The student will be dismissed from the Medical Coding Specialist (MCS) program if any of the following occurs:

- Failing the same MCS curriculum course more than one time
- Failing a total of three MCS curriculum courses
- Failure to complete all course requirements
- Academic dishonesty
- Violating Code of Conduct

If a student is dismissed from the MCS program, the dismissal and re-entry policies pertain to both the Health Information Technology (HIT) and Medical Coding Specialist (MCS) programs. This means if a student is dismissed from the MCS program, he/she can't enroll or transition into the HIT program until the re-entry policy requirements have been met.

This policy reflects concerns for appropriate MCS program standards from the MCS faculty and Advisory Committee. This policy has become a typical standard in all MCS programs throughout the state of Wisconsin.
